

52 Weeks Workspace Challenge

Purging Promise

Purging is entirely too hard and it definitely takes too long, but as I work through the process, I promise myself the following:

1. Once I've used the majority of the stickers on a sheet, I'll put what's left in a give-away bin. The same goes for other types of supplies.
2. One-in and one-out rule applies.
3. I will never remove things from my trash, recycling or give-away bins.
4. Once it's gone, it's gone and I won't think about it or repurchase it.
5. Don't over-think things. Trust your instinct.
6. Only handle it once. Don't just move stuff around.
7. Buy less and create more.

And most importantly, I'll always stay focused on why I am purging.... When I'm finished, I'll have more space to create.
